DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, 104, and 105 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 5,539,214 Lynch et al.

1. Referring to claim 1, an article comprising: a sample exposure region, semiconductor nanowire, (Figure 1 #12 Col. 2 Lines 37-40), deposited after growth proximal the sample exposure region, (See  below), at least a portion of which is addressable by a sample in the sample exposure region, and a chemical or biological reaction entity positioned relative to the nanowire such that an interaction between the reaction entity and an analyte in the sample causes a detectable change in a property of the nanowire, (Col. 3 Lines 49-62).

 Initially, and with respect to claim 1, note that a "product by process" claim is directed to the product per se, no matter how actually made, In re Hirao, 190 USPQ 15 at 17 (footnote 3).

See also In re Brown, 173 USPQ 685; In re Luck, 177 USPQ 523; In re Wertheim, 191 USPQ 90 (209 USPQ 554 does not deal with this issue); In re Fitzgerald, 205 USPQ 594, 596 (CCPA); In re Marosi et al., 218 USPQ 289 (CAFC); and most recently, In re Thorpe et al., 227 USPQ 964 (CAFC, 1985) all of which make it clear that it is the final product per se which must be determined in a "product by process" claim, and not the patentability of the process, and that, as here, an old or obvious product produced by a new method is not patentable as a product, whether claimed in "product by process" claims or not. Note that Applicant has burden of proof in such cases as the above case law makes clear.

2. Referring to claim 2, an article, further comprising: a detector constructed and arranged to determine a property associated with the nanowire, (Col. 3 Lines 49-62).
3. Referring to claim 104, an article comprising: a sample exposure region, a semiconductor nanowire, (Figure 1-#12 Col. 2 Lines 37-40), at least a portion of which is addressable by a sample in the sample exposure region, a chemical or biological reaction entity positioned relative to the nanowire such that an interaction between the reaction entity and an analyte in the sample causes a detectable change in a property of the nanowire, (Col. 3 Lines 49-62), and a substrate, (Col. 3 Lines 9-13 the substrate is made out of SiGe, where it is inherent that a substrate is a supporting layer that underlines the layer it supports, further detail of this inherent definition of substrate can be seen in U.S. Patent No. 6,503,375 Maydan et al. Col. 13 Lines 55-60), having a composition different from the nanowire, (Col. 2 Line 38 the nanowire is made out of Si).

4. Referring to claim ¹⁰⁵ ₁, an article, further comprising: a detector constructed and arranged to determine a property associated with the nanowire, (Col. 3 Lines 49-62).

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
